Engineer of the Fire Department also sent in a counminication which was received and ordered to be printed. The joint Committee composed of several members of the Academy of Medicine and Sanitary Associations notified the meeting that they were ready to give their views with reference to public health, whenever it best suited the Charter Commission.

Ald. Froment then moved to adjourn until Friday next, from which time onward the meetings should take place every day until the work was concluded. He said be had prepared another resolution, declaring the seats of all the members absent for three consecutive days, vacant; and instructing the Committee on Organization to report the names of others to take their places. The time left was short, and it was necessary to pursue some such course if anything was expected to be done. Better adjourn size die, and transmit a recommendation to the Legislature that, in consequence of instention, a new Commission ought to be created in 1862. His purpose in offering the first resolution was, he said, to be able to submit a charter within the time allotted by the Legislature, a thing impossible at the present rate.

Mr. Purny desired to amend by adding some words allowing for any reasonable excuse. Injustice might be done by conveying the impression in all cases that no excuse could be offered.

all cases that no excuse could be offered.

Mr. FROMENT and he intended no discourtesy, but too great countesy had been extended, until they were now within lifteen days of the time when their labore should be completed, and nothing done.

School-Commissioner Tuckers was satisfied that if they should meet from day to day as proposed, they could not accomplish the end for which the Charter Commission was created. He understood the commission was created and the did not succeed, it would appear they were either incompetent or unwilling. Hence they had better not say anything about it, and allow the Legislature to appoint a new Commission was too large in the first place to be brought together, and it started wrong.

Mr. Pundy was in favor of continuing, and doing comething. He believed the public expected something. He believed the public expected something of them. He desired to amend Mr. Froment's resolution by adding the words "unless gentlemen have some reasonable excuse."

Mr. Pundy was in favor of doing all that could be done, and if the Commission failed, then letting the Legislature know what difficulties they labored under. The matter of requiring sixteen for a quoroum could then be modified.

According to the by-law, Recorder Hofffan sind a possible and the distribution of the commission present in order to act on such a subject.

Mr. Whitz was likewise in favor of doing all that could be done, and if the Commission failed, then letting the Legislature know what difficulties they labored under. The matter of requiring sixteen for a quoroum could then be modified.

The great merchants are affected by the atmosphere in which they live, and Baltimore has somewhat the pretonions of an old cathedral town in England struggling against manufactures and Chartise. Some considerable towns have sprung up in the State recently which are the rallying points for the Union men, and which are thorns in the side of the country gentlemen, but, generally speaking, the machine the special s
